Marriages: Marriages are celebrated in the Church where the bride or groom is registered at. When a man and a woman plan to marry each other, they should contact a priest one year in advance and always before the wedding date is set, and before arranging for the reception hall. The engaged are required to attend a Marriage Preparation Course.

Please note: However, if this man or woman has previously gone through any form of civil or religious marriage with another person, the priest is not permitted to set a date for the wedding until the Bishop's office has been consulted. Questions are often being asked about marriages performed outside the Catholic Church by non-Catholic ministers. These are not valid marriages according to the teaching of the Catholic Church, but many can be rectified by simply consulting with your Parish priest to discuss the available options. Sometimes people make decisions without proper information, so if you wish, please contact your Pastor for details or call the Marriage Tribunal at 416-934-3400 ext 300.

THE INVENTION OF THE CAPPUCCINO & CROISSANT

The World Instantly Became A Happier Place

Many are familiar with the iconic drink, the cappuccino, which consists of coffee and frothed milk. However, few are aware of the drink's Catholic origin attributed to Blessed Marco d'Aviano, a Capuchin friar from Venice.

The Capuchin Friar

Blessed d'Aviano, born Carlo Domenico Cristofori, was a highly respected friar of the 17th Century. His admirable life was full of zealous pastoral work, heroic acts of virtue, and absolute fidelity to the Holy Catholic Church. However, the leadership role of this intrepid soul was forever etched into history during the Siege of Vienna.

The Catholic Victory

In 1683, the Turkish army advanced with great strides in Europe, brutally pillaging and conquering new territories. To halt this onslaught, Pope Innocent XI appointed Marco d'Aviano as Apostolic Nuncio and Papal Legate of Vienna, with the mission of uniting the Holy League, formed by Christians of Austria, Poland, Venice, and the Papal States.

When the Blessed monk first arrived, he was faced with the challenge of restoring the wavering morale of the Christian soldiers, who had already suffered immensely from Turkish aggression. Through his fiery preaching, he was able to spark a flame in the hearts of these men and managed to unite the Holy League, thus giving the Christian forces a fighting chance. This unity gave the Catholics the strength needed to stop the Turks at the Siege of Vienna and eventually force them out of Europe, thus ending the Turkish terror. The Capuchin friar put faith into action. God's intervention, along with Blessed Marcos' prayers and pastoral work, was the driving force of this victory.

The First Cappuccino

After the Christians expelled the Turks from the gates of Vienna, numerous treasures were discovered left by the enemy, including hundreds of bags filled with coffee beans. At first, the brew was disliked because of its overpowering bitter taste. But Blessed d'Aviano perfected the rough beverage by adding milk as a sweetener. This new drink spread like wildfire throughout Europe.

In the monk's honor, the drink was named "kapuziner," or "Capuchin," because it was the name of the religious order to which Blessed Marco belonged, along with the fact that the drink matches the color of the traditional habit worn by the order.

Good Coffee: A Product of Christian Civilization

Many hidden gems inspired by Christian Civilization, like the cappuccino, still exist in our neo-pagan world. Marvels are created in every field of life, including something as simple as a good cup of coffee, when souls seek perfection and are open to the grace of God.

For 338 years, people have enjoyed the cappuccino. Even in our godless culture, Starbucks makes a fortune selling a product invented by a saintly warrior monk who fought off the Islamic invasion of Austria. It makes you wonder: If society once again embraced Christian order, how many more things would God not inspire man to create that give us a taste of heaven here on earth?

The Invention of the Croissant – 1683

The croissant is everywhere. Most European countries have their version of this humble bread. Each shaped into a crescent and made from layered yeast-leavened dough. Add copious amounts of butter, roll and fold, and viola...a French puffed pastry served with every breakfast around the world. But who was the first?

Legend has it, it was made to celebrate the defeat of Umayyad forces by the Franks at the Battle of Tours in 732. The shape represented the crescent of the Islamic flag. But why would you honor another country's flag? Christians didn't stop there. Another Islamic empire curtailed by those mighty saviors of Christ, the Ottomans, has also been held as a possible origin story.

The Turks found their comeuppance in the Battle of Vienna, 1683. Apparently, the bakers heard tunneling and warned the Austrian army that they were about to be invaded from under the ground. The Austrian army, pre-warned of the invasion, destroyed the tunnels along with the ghastly Turks. The shape of the bread thus represents the enemy's insignia, a crescent moon.

Such ill-mannered folklore has led to the croissant being banned by some Islamic fundamentalists.
